The Sells & Downs Show Is Great.

The management of the Great Sells & Downs Show are always confident of pleasing the public of every section. It matters not in what state the show is traveling, its patrons are sure to leave the tents well satisfied. The people like to be dealt with in an honorable manner, and the fact that they have found that there is one show that gives all its advertisements has much to do with the unusual verdict of approval which is heard on every hand about Sells & Downs Show.

The Daily Times of Dubuque, Iowa, among other good things in a column of favorable criticism, publishes the following paragraph:

"The public always delight in a meritorious circus. This explains why the Dubuque public was eminently pleased with the Sells & Downs Show. It was entertaining, amusing, thrilling and delightful. There were numberless acts that came with what seemed endless continuity. They thrilled and bewildered the observer, they occasioned joy, they provoked breathless suspense till their completion. To enumerate the best acts would be a task equal to finding merit in Spanish atrocities. Every act was good, and there were a few that especially centered attention. The aerial work was fine and the ring work of the highest order. The Ebbitt family, the Martell family, the Earl sisters, William Davenport and William Marks, and the many other stars, among the very best in the business, won the plaudits of the multitudes."

The Great Sells & Downs Shows will positively exhibit one day in Barre, Thursday, July 6.

SLAIN IN MUTINY.

Officers of Russian Warship Murdered by Crew.

MUTINEERS HOLD SHIP.

Threaten to Bombard the Port of Odessa if Interfered With—Bodies of Murdered Officers Were Put Overboard.

Washington, June 29.—The state department makes public the following, received yesterday from United States Consul Heenan at Odessa, Russia:

"Russian battleship Kniaz Potemkin Tavritchesky and one torpedo boat arrived here Tuesday evening.

"All their officers had been murdered at sea and their bodies thrown overboard. The men threatened to bombard the town.

"Situation is serious. Black Sea fleet expected at Odessa yesterday."

Late last night word was received from St. Petersburg that the corpse of the sailor whose killing caused the mutiny aboard the battleship now at Odessa was laid out under guard marines on a pier all day Wednesday. On the breast was an inscription saying "Omichu perished through not telling officer's name." Beside the body a box was placed for contributions to pay expenses of burial. The crowd gave freely. It appears now that when the officer shot Omichu the crew attacked him and most of the officers were thrown overboard, all but eight, who joined the crew. There was firing all day Wednesday in every quarter of Odessa and it seems certain that a hundred were killed.

Vienna, June 29.—A dispatch from Lemberg tells of a mutiny of soldiers in the Mokotoff camp, near Warsaw. A portion of the troops were ordered to get ready to proceed to Manchuria, but they rebelled. A detachment of other troops were ordered to suppress the mutiny.

They fired several volleys into the ranks of the mutineers, killing many of them.

AGAINST BOYCOTT.

Rockhill Gets Chinese Government to Issue an Edict.

Peking, June 29.—United States Minister Rockhill has succeeded in getting the Chinese government to issue a proclamation intended to quiet the agitation against the purchase of American goods, pending the negotiation of a new treaty.

Washington, June 29.—The state department has not been informed of Minister Rockhill's success in procuring the aid of the Chinese government in stopping the anti-American movement in China. Mr. Rockhill has had instructions for some time, ever since he reached Peking, in fact, to do all that he could to pacify the Chinese commercial organizations.

The president sent assurances to the Chinese government that he would do all in his power to bring about a modification of the Chinese exclusion regulations in this country. Mr. Rockhill, it is understood, has been making an effort to enlist the services of the Chinese government.

MOBILIZING RESERVES.

80,000 Men to Be Assembled in St. Petersburg.

St. Petersburg, June 29.—All the barracks and government structures available in the capital have been prepared for the coming mobilization of the reserves, an operation which will last three weeks. Eighty thousand men from St. Petersburg and the surrounding factory districts will be assembled. A ukase ordering the levy was expected yesterday. It is temporarily withheld until Gen. Treppoff shall have completed his preparations for the prevention of trouble.

Alfonso Does Stunts.

London, June 29.—The Onlooker, a weekly society journal, publishes an account of one of the pranks performed by King Alfonso of Spain during his recent visit to England.

The young King's apartments in Buckingham Palace were located on the same corridor with the rooms of Queen Alexandra. One evening during his stay the King went to the apartments of the Queen to bid her good-night. As he turned away from the room the King suddenly said:

"I am an athlete. Would you like to see me perform?"

The Queen answered in the affirmative, whereupon Alfonso turned a series of somersaults down the corridor to his own apartments.

WHY WALLACE QUIT PANAMA

It Was Not to Head New Subway System in N. Y.

ANNOYED AT WASHINGTON

Widespread Interest Aroused Over the Announcement of the Resignation of the Chief Engineer of the Panama Canal Commission.

New York, June 29.—John F. Wallace, who has tendered his resignation as chief engineer of the Panama Canal, did not do so to become the head of the Metropolitan Railway Company's new system of subways. Nor has any offer been made to him by the Ryan interests since it was known that he told Secretary of War Taft last Sunday that he intended to hand in his resignation to President Roosevelt.

From a reliable source it was learned yesterday that Mr. Wallace's resignation was not peremptory, but had some proviso and conditions attached to it which leave it easily within the power of President Roosevelt to retain his services if the President sees fit to do so.

It is said that although President Roosevelt is inclined to sympathize with Chief Engineer Wallace, Secretary Taft is opposed to giving him any more latitude, and that the matter will eventually narrow down to a question of whether the President can afford at this time to side with Wallace and against Taft. One of the things on which Wallace's friends speculate is that Secretary Taft of late has been forging to the front in leaps and bounds, and that President Roosevelt is beginning to feel that it might be just as well to let Mr. Wallace get his share of the glory for building the canal, as Wallace couldn't turn his reputation to account until after the canal was completed, while Taft's share in the affair would come in very handy for a Presidential nomination three years hence. Friends of Mr. Wallace declare that he would rather go down in history as the permanent chief engineer of the Panama Canal at $10,000 a year than to go back to any railroad service at ten times that amount.

In official circles at Washington there is much indignation, and some accuse Mr. Wallace of having failed to keep his agreement with the Government. The stories of Mr. Wallace's friends in getting needed supplies and materials for the work, and that he was encumbered by red tape are denied by partisans of the Canal Commission. They say that Mr. Wallace at one time commended the manner in which orders for material were filled by the Washington office of the commission.

RAISE BEER TAX.

Proposition for the Relief of the National Deficit.

Washington, D. C., June 29.—Treasury officials have been busy figuring out how the continuance of the existing deficit can be avoided. Expenditures cannot be easily reduced, and the alternative proposed is that more revenue be secured.

Secretary Shaw, who is ranked among the "stand patters" on the tariff question, is backed up by some of the most influential men in both branches of Congress.

If the customs revenues are not to be changed, the only means for bringing in additional supplies is from increased internal revenue. While it is not within the exact truth to state that definite conclusions have been reached so far as the executive branch of the government is concerned, it is not improbable that Congress will be asked to increase the internal revenue tax on beer and possibly manufactured tobacco.

From the standpoint of the experts of the treasury department the brewers of beer can most easily stand the brunt of increased taxation, as 45,000,000 barrels of this product are put on the market yearly, and every barrel pays $1 tax.

To double that tax would provide an additional revenue sufficient to more than wipe out the deficit, and, with an economical administration of affairs, leave sufficient to carry on the Panama canal operations without recourse to any bond issue.

It has been suggested that such a tax would make impossible a general opening up of the tariff question, which, regardless of how the question is ultimately disposed of, would unsettle business conditions and stop the "present era of prosperity."

This is the viewpoint of the "stand patters." They are unwilling also to permit the party differences on the tariff question to be aired in Congress just now.

HAIL THE MOTH KILLER.

REFUSES TO KISS WIFE AT COURT'S ORDER

Daily Token of Affection Denied by Brooklyn Man Haled Before Judge.

New York, June 29.—"I am so glad that Magistrate Higginbotham told George he must kiss me. I would rather he did not have to be told, but it is so long since I have been kissed that any kind would be better than none. And maybe he will turn sweetheart again if he does as the judge says. I am ready to help my husband obey orders."—Statement of Mrs. George Lindsay, the unkissed wife.

"Kiss my wife because I must! Not on your life. Jail for me rather than lose my freedom to kiss when and whom I choose."—Statement of George Lindsay, who has been commanded by Magistrate Higginbotham to kiss his wife once a day.

These two statements outline the situation Tuesday night in the Lindsay home, No. 123 Dresden street, Brooklyn. It seemed as if the Magistrate's decision and well-meant efforts to bring back happiness to the Lindsay home were a dismal failure.

The wife spent the day with her mother, but returned to prepare her husband's dinner. The meal over, he disappeared into the matmaker's quarters in the yard, and the girl wife, with her baby in its carriage, started to find companionship among the neighbors. The oil lamp burned dimly and dimly in the home until the two returned, driven back by the lateness of the hour.
